Work History

I've been making my living as a freelance illustrator for over 40 years making every kind of art you can imagine.

Advertising

Working with teams on tight deadlines creating everything from storyboards and comp drawings to finished art in every possible medium. My work in advertising got me inducted into the Pittsburgh Advertising Federation Hall of Fame 7 years ago.

Publishing

Creating art for cartoon strips, comic books, magazine illustrations and a 24-book stint illustrating Who/What Was history books for Penguin Randomhouse. Again, in every medium you can imagine from pencil, to watercolor and oil painting and, of course, digital (Photoshop, Illustrator, ArtRage, Painter).

Medical and Industrial

I've worked on lots of industrial projects that require a very high level of precision and most recently been doing medical illustrations for UPMC showing intricate heart surgeries. Which, as you can imagine, require a very high level of accuracy and realism.

Fine Arts

My drawing and paintings have hung in many galleries and have won me numerous awards.

I'm always looking for new challenges and people to collaborate with. I hope we wind up being a good fit.
